REV. H. H. UMSTEAD IS GROWING BETTER

CAN NOW EAT AND READ THE PAPERS.

HAS THREE BROKEN RIBS

Also Got Severe Blow on Head and a Sprained Ankle—Expected to Return Soon.

The Rev. Henry H. Umstead, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Quitman, who became violently ill Monday from a return of shell shock and who was taken Wednesday to the Woodson Sanitarium at St. Joseph, is getting along nicely, according to information received last night by the Rev. and Mrs. MacDougall at Quitman. Mr. MacDougall is a brother of Mrs. Umstead.

Mr. MacDougall said this morning that he was in communication last night with the sanitarium at St. Joseph and that he was told that Mr. Umstead was resting well and that he was now able to eat and read the papers a little.

Mr. MacDougall said that Mr. Umstead had received in the accident with the motor car a severe blow on the back of his head and that three of his ribs were broken. His ankle was also sprained.

It is Mr. MacDougall's opinion that the motor car in which Mr. Umstead was riding was being driven rapidly and that when it struck the bank Mr. Umstead was thrown to the other side of the machine from the steering wheel and it was in this way that the injuries were received. He attributes the accident to the fact that Mr. Umstead was somewhat excited because he had just had one accident with a motor car and that he lost control of the second one. He said too, that Mr. Umstead had been somewhat excited during the past two weeks about the work that was being carried on in the church at Quitman and that it was probable that this had had a tendency to unnerve him.

Mr. MacDougall says that it is his opinion that Mr. Umstead will fully recover from the accident and that he will soon be with the people of Quitman in his pastorial capacity.

WHERE WAS COMMUNITY MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT?

Professor Stanfield and Miss Shepherd At Loss To Know Where They Were to Speak

Professor W. W. Stanfield and Miss Grace Shepherd of the State Teachers College were wondering yesterday where they were scheduled to have been on Thursday evening. Some community in the county was to have a community meeting at the school house. Mr. Stanfield understood that it was the Blackburn Schoolhouse. The understanding was that Mr. Stanfield and Miss Shepherd were to make talks at the meeting. According, Mr. Stanfield, Mrs. Stanfield and Miss Shepherd drove to the Blackburn school in Mr. Stanfield's motor car. When they got there the building was dark and lonely. They had gone to the wrong place. There had been a misunderstanding as to the place at which the meeting was to be held. The party returned to town feeling a little foolish, Mr. Stanfield said.

The arrangement had been made by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, and Mr. Somerville was in Columbia attending the superintendent"s meeting, so there was no way to check up on the affair.

MARYVILLE WON IN 2 OUT OF 3 GAMES

H. S. WON AND LOST AND S. T. C. GIRLS WON.

TROUNCING FOR TRENTON

Maryville Boys Thrashed Old Enemy to Tune of 24 to 13—Much Interest in Game.

Maryville High School and College basketball teams were engaged last night in three basketball games and were successful in two of them. The victory by the widest margain was the one that the College girls won at the high school gymnasium from the team of the Palmer College at Albany. The score was 33 to 7. The other victory and one that gives a great deal of satisfaction to the local high school and to the town in general was the one that the boys of the high school won at Trenton from the team of the Trenton High School. This score was 24 to 13. The third game was lost. It was played between the girls of the high school and the girls of the Hopkins High School at Hopkins. The score in this game was 24 to 21 in favor of the Hopkins girls.

Big Victory For Boys

In a 24 to 13 victory the Maryville High School basketeers supped deeply at Trenton of the cup of revenge for the football defeat administered by Trenton last fall. Team work, accurate passing and good playing marked the game, which was a walk-away for Maryville from the start. There were no individual stars. The team played as a machine and as a machine they worked the ball the length of the floor time and again for a tally. Against a team well versed in the five man defense and on a small court, the local quintet fully demonstrated that it is a basketball team to be proud of.

From the start of the game the victory was certain. The Maryville aggregation amassed a lead of fifteen points before a Trenton player managed to drop the ball through the meshes. The guarding of Masters and O'Banion was in the main responsible for the score. To use the words of Coach Harry O. Ezell, "Bun played his usual whale of a game and Masters was fast on both offense and defense."

The first half ended with the score 18 to 3 in favor of Maryville.

In the second period Trenton came back strong. Its defense was almost unpenetratable and the offense was much better than in the first of the game. It seemed to be a different team and played some good basketball. In this period Trenton made ten points to six for Maryville.

Trenton plays two games here Feb. 23 and 24. These games promise to be better than the game last night as Trenton is on an up-hill climb. Their team is going through the same reformation that was seen in Maryville not long since. Coach Ezell predicts that these games will be good and that the Trenton team will be much improved when it comes here.

Last night Captain Bill Fannon played one of his best games. His passing was unusually accurate and he was a valuable cog in the machine.

Ellis was also fast. His floor work was good and he had his eye on the basket.

Although "Chuggy" Smith did not shine as a shooter, his floor work compared with the best of them. The diminutive forward was fighting all of the time an dplayed a mighty sweet game.

Keef, who went in for Ellis toward the last of the game, played well.

DEBATERS AT COLLEGE GETTING READY FOR CLASH

Think It's Safer to Debate Closed Shop Question Here Than At Pittsburg, Kan.

The Excelsior Literary Society of the College has chosen Fred Kurtz, W. H. LeMaster, John Allen DeMott and Alfred Watson as the members of its two teams for the inter society debates that are to take place in April. The Excelsiors won last year in the intersociety debates that are to take place in April. The Excelsiors won last year in the intersociety debates and the society is expecting to win again this year.

At 8 o'clock Monday morning there will be a debate at the college to begin eliminations to determine who will represent the College in the debate that is to take place with the state school at Pittsburg, Kan., in March. The debate will be between John Querry and Fred Kurtz on the negative and Charles Elmore and Virgil Adkins for the affirmative. The question is "Resolved That the Principal of the Closed Shop is Justifiable."

The debate between Maryville and Pittsburg will be held here, somewhat to the satisfaction of the debaters, since some of them have remarked that they would hardly consider it safe to go to Pittsburg and argue the closed shop, even though it was just in fun.

PRESIDENT SUBMITS TREATY TO SENATE

HARDING PRESENTS PACTS FROM ARMS CONFERENCE.

NO ENTANGLING FEATURE

Says New Agreements Will Put End to Contradictions and Establish Clear Understanding.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The treaties negotiated during the Washington conference were laid before the senate by President Harding yesterday with a request that they be ratified as guarantees of peace.

Appearing in person before the senate, the President declared that the new agreements would "serve to put an end to contradictions, to remove ambiguities and establish clear understanding."

Seven treaties were submitted by the President. The first was the five-power naval armament treaty, the second the submarine and poison gas treaty, the third, the four-power Pacific treaty, the fourth and fifth were supplemental treaties to the four-power pact, and the others related respectively to the general Far Eastern situation and to the Chinese tariff.

These engagements, the president said, were interwoven in a general scheme of peace, and contained nothing which "commits the United States, or any other power, to any kind of an alliance, entanglement, or involvement."

Referring to the unratified treaty of Versailles, Mr. Harding said it was drawn in response "to a manifest world hunger," for better relationships, and that the treaties submitted were drawn in response to the same desire but without any provision except to "promote peace."

No War Commitments.

"The four-power treaty contains no war commitments," said the President.

"There is no commitment to armed force, alliance, no written or moral obligation to join in defense, no expressed or implied commitment to arrive at any agreement except in accordance with our constitutional methods."

Reviewing briefly the situation in the Far East, the president declared the conference by its Far Eastern agreement had "dissipated" all apprehension of territorial greed in that quarter and that senate ratification of the Far Eastern treaties "will stabilize a peace for the breaking of which there is not a shadow of reason or real excuse."

Relief From Naval Burdens.

The five-power naval treaty, he continued was in accordance with the expressed wish of congress, contained in recent legislation, and would afford "the first actual relief from naval burdens which peoples have been able to acclaim since steam and steel combined to add to naval strength in warfare."

"Either these treaties must have your cordial sanction," he said, "or every proclaimed desire to promote peace and prevent war becomes a hollow mockery."

Alluding to the senate's traditional aversion against entangling foreign commitments, Mr. Harding declared he had that in mind when he arranged that both Democrats and Republicans should be members of the American delegation.

"The senate's concern for freedom from entanglements," he continued, "for preserved traditions, for maintained independence was never once forgotten by the American delegates.

"If I did not believe these treaties brought us not only new guarantees but greater assurances of freedom from conflict, I would not submit them to your consideration.

Futile to Try Again.

"Much depends upon your decision," he continued. "We have joined in giving to the world the spectacle of nations gathered about the conference table, amid the convictions of peace, free from all passion, to face each other in the contracts of reason to solve menacing problems, and end disputes and clear up misunderstandings.

"If to these understandings for peace, if to these advanced expressions of the conscience of leading powers, if to these concords to guard against conflict and lift burden of armament, if to all these the senate will not advise and consent, then it will be futile to try again."

"I alluded a moment ago to my knowledge of the viewpoint of the senate from personal experience," he declared. "Since that experience I have come to know the viewpoint and inescapable responsibility of the executive.

"To the executive comes the closer

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

SOUL AND BODY

Thousands of years ago we were admonished to "know thyself." This admonition was given us to learn all about ourselves that we might know our strength and our weakness, and shape our lives according to the material with which we have to build, that we might achieve the greatest results in our mission on earth.

"Thyself" is your soul and body—the one material and the other ethereal, and on earth the one is dependent upon the other for existence and usefulness.

There is a broad distinction between your soul and your body, and one is easily distinguishable from the other. Your body is the flesh, bone and blood of you. These three things constitute all there is of your body. Alone, without your soul, it would be an inanimate thing. It could neither move, feel nor think. It would be as something dead, for it could not function. It is merely the house which your soul occupies. For illustration: There stands a disconnected electric fan. It represents the body. It is motionless; it has no power to disturb the air. It is useless. But wait, we will put life into it; we switch on the electricity, which represents the soul, and it functions.

What is the soul? It is all there is of you except your body. It is all your senses, all your passions and all your faculties combined. It is the all of you which sees, feels, hears and thinks. It is the messenger the Creator sent to earth for a purpose.

PAYING YOUR INCOME TAX

In most forms of taxation, the public authorities take up the case of each taxpayer, and decide how much he ought to pay. The value of real estate and personal and business property can be determined by boards of assessors. If the public have the judgment to put competent and honest business men into these positions, they will get fairly levied tax.

The income tax law, however, looks to the individual citizen to report his own income. It was predicted when this law was first passed, that the result would be to encourage people to conceal their property, and that an enormous amount of lying would be done. But it has not worked that way. The penalties imposed for falsification are severe. And the majority of successful people know well enough that honesty is the best policy, and that it is a mean and low trick to cheat the government.

People who are disposed to growl about their income tax, or who are tempted to underestimate the amounts due from them, should reflect on the wonderful advantages they get from their American citizenship.

At a time when the world has been almost convulsed by war, and by the wicked ambitions of designing men, the United States has escaped with much less disturbance. Our burden of debt is much lighter. Our political system provides free education and wide opportunities for ambitious people. More of the comforts of life are available here than in any other land.

The American people should not expect to have all these blessings without paying for them. In many ways they cost money. Those who have had an exceptional share of these blessings without paying for them. In many ways they cost money. Those who have had an exceptional share of these benefits, and who are now asked to report and pay their income assessment, should do so with the utmost honesty and cheerfulness, remembering the gifts that their country has brought to them.

HARLAN SELLS GRAHAM TRIBUNE TO MATTOX

New Owner Gets Out First Issue This Week—Was Formerly At Maitland

The following clipping was taken from the Graham Tribune of this week and is signed by the former owner of the paper:

A deal was consumated last week whereby S. D. Harlan sold the Graham Tribune to H. L. Mattox, Maitland, Mo. Mr. Mattox gets out his first issue this week. He has been connected with the newspaper business for over 15 years—the last few months working on the "Herald," Maitland, Mo., under the management of Mr. Hambaugh, where he practically had charge of the job work department and composition of the paper. Yes, he intends to continue the Tribune at Graham—where we are sure a newspaper and job office are greatly needed.

"My plans for the future are as follows: We have received a call to the Church of Christ at Bedford, Ia., to which location we will move in a short time.

"We wish to thank all subscribers and patrons of the Tribune for their past support and earnestly urge all to stand back of the home paper in every possible way in the days to come.

"Wishing all health, wealth and gold in store, I humbly bow myself off the stage of action as editor of the Tribune.

Your friend,
S. D. Harlan."

SCORES CIVIL SERVICE BODY

Arkansas Senator Charges Politics in Examinations for Jobs

Washington, Feb. 11—Members of the civil service commission were attacked in the senate yesterday by Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, who charged that they were "prostituting their offices for partisan purposes."

"The commission is lending itself to the most outrageous abuses," said Senator Caraway, citing Arkansas cases, in which, he declared, the commission had raised examination grades of politicians, who were seeking civil service jobs.

The Arkansas senator asserted the commission had refused to permit anyone to examine the papers in these cases and added:

"They are lending themselves to positive fraud. Their conduct is shocking."

Senator Caraway's objections succeeded in holding up temporarily a proposition in an appropriation bill to increase the salaries of commissioners from $5,000 to $6,000.

S. T. C. Girls vs. Palmer.

The girls of the State Teachers College snatched the lead at the beginning from the girls of Palmer College and in a short time had built up a large score. The lead continued to grow larger and larger. Palmer grew a little fussy but it did not keep the local girls from going on piling up the big score. Palmer also called time out to hold pow wows among the players, but could not seem to devise any scheme by which to hold its own with the Maryville girls. At the end of the first half the score was 22 to 3.

Hopkins Girls Against M. H. S.

The handicap of a small gymnasium lost a game for the Maryville High School girls at Hopkins last night. The score was 24 to 21. The game was all one-sided in the first half. The Hopkins girls, at home on their small court seemed to be "right" and the forwards hit the meshes from all angles.

The Maryville girls, used to playing on a regulation court, seemed to be crowded in the Hopkins gymnasium and all of the free easy playing that has characterized the team this season seemed to be gone. Time after time shots went wild or bounced off of the ceiling.

The high school girls have been coached by H. O. Ezell to arch their shots and almost every time the ball was arched at all it bounced on the ceiling. The half ended 18 to 8.

In the second half the locals came back strong. They seemed to be acclimated to the little court and the passing and shooting was decidedly better. Evelyn Raines was clearly the star. The Maryville forward had the range and was "dropping 'em in" at will. She made nine points in the period. The Hopkins girls were held to two field goals in the second half.

With the half nearly over and Maryville rapidly cutting down the Hopkins lead the interest grew and the little gymnasium was filled with cheers.

For Hopkins Miss Dragoo was the individual star. She made twenty of her teams points. She was fast and shot well.

The game was refereed by Jack Bland of the State Teachers College.

500 MONKEYS USED IN BATTLE AGAINST "FLU"

New York Feb. 11—Five hundred monkeys, imported as needed from South America and Africa, were used during the last three years in experiments in which the new vaccine against pneumonia was developed, according to Dr. Willian H. Park, of the Health Department. The monkeys were used as part of a nation-wide campaign of research work on the subject of influenza and pneumonia.

Among other things the experiments showed that the invisible, unidentified organism which causes "flu" can pass through a stone wall.

The experiments were conducted principally by the Public Health Service in Washington and by the local Health Department.

SPPED UP RUSSIAN MAILS.

Letters From Other Countries Now Almost Certain of Delivery.

The mail service of Russia is improving and now letters and money orders sent to points within Russia are reasonably certain of delivery. Also letters from abroad are delivered.

Letters sent from the United States reach the person to whom they are addressed after a month or six weeks. The delay is due to the censorship. There's nothing secret about the work of the censors. It is perfectly apparent that they have opened letters because they wish to know the contents. The letters are steamed, and during the process the United States stamp and the mucilage of the flap come off.

After the censor has examined the contents and made any notes or copies of the contents, the letter goes out for delivery. The delivery service is so good that a letter will follow the addressee about for weeks, from address to address, until he is found.

PRESIDENT SUBMITS TREATY TO SENATE

view of the world relationship and more impressive realization of the menaces, the anxieties, and the apprehensions to be met."

Testimonials to Open Diplomacy.

Along with the treaties, the president submitted to the senate the complete minutes of plenary sessions and committee meetings of the conference, together with a copy of the officials report made to him by the American delegation.

These documents the president said were "fitting testimonials to that open and simpler diplomacy for which the world has asked."

In that sense he added, the whole conference was "quite out of the ordinary."

"Indeed," said Mr. Harding, "it was a conference of friends, proceeding in deliberation, and sympathy, appraising their friendly and peaceful relations and resolved to maintain them and to give the world new assurances of peace and actual relief from the burdens of excessive and competitive armaments."

Not a "Spite" Conference.

"It is not necessary to remind you that the conference work was not directed against any power or group of powers. There were no punishments to inflict, no rewards to bestow. The offerings are free will; conscience is that of world opinion; the observance is a matter of national honor."

Asserting that no provision in any of the treaties required the United States to surrender a "single worth while tradition," the president declared it did not follow that the commitments entered into were meaningless or valueless. The actuating desire, he said, had been to establish among nations an agreement of "orderly neighborliness."

"The world has been hungering for a better relationship for centuries since it has attained its larger consciousness," said Mr. Harding. "The conception of the league of nations was a reponse to a manifest world hunger. Whatever its fate, whether it achieves the great thing hoped for, or comes to supersedure or failure, American unwillingness to be a part of it has been expressed. That unwillingness has been kept in mind, and the treaties submitted today have no semblance or relationship save as the wish to promote peace has been the common inspiration."

The president concluded his address at 4:06 o'clock and treaties which he presented were on motion of Senator Lodge, Republican leader, referred to the foreign relations committee and ordered printed.

Mrs. Harding a Spectator.

There was no formal announcement of the president's plans to address the senate except a motion of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader, to appoint a committee to escort the executive to the chamber.

On motion of Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip, the senate, to receive the president, proceeded to consider "executive business in open session."

Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Hughes were among the many women spectators. They had seats in the front row of the gallery.

The first applause given to the president's remarks was when he expressed hope that conference work would be appraised by the senate as he appraised it.

There was considerable applause when the president expressed belief that the conference had made the world "a safer and better and more happy place to live in."

DANCE FOR CHURCH MEMBERS

Denver Editor Would Show Merits of Properly Conducted Affair

Denver, Feb. 11—As a result of recent discussions in church circles here over the question of the propriety of dancing in connection with church activities, Frank P. Rice, editor of a religious magazine, yesterday asked Mayor Dewey C. Bailey for permission to hold a dance for church members only.

Mr. Rice said he had planned the dance "as a means of presenting to the ministers of Denver and the public the merits of a properly conducted church dance." Mayor Bailey took the matter under advisement.

Mr. Rice said that he planned to charge admission to the dance, proceeds to be used for charitable work.

STRIKE DIDN'T HALT EDITORS

Americans and British in Paris Put Out Editions Without Compositors

Paris, Feb. 11—The editorial staff of the Paris edition of the New York Herald and the London Daily Mail gave a lesson in journalism initiative and enterprise to their French contemporaries yesterday.

When their compositors walked out last night, after rejection of their ultimatum for a 50 per cent increase in wages, the staffs of the two newspapers got together. They brought out a joint edition today, printed from photo-engraved plates of typewritten copy, the method being similar to that adopted by American magazines recently in a similar emergency.

New York, Feb. 11.—There are today more unemployed actors and other stage performers walking along Broadway and a hundred main streets looking for jobs than ever before.

SEES PERIL IN PRICE FIXING

Victor Murdock Says It Will Do Only in Emergencies

Washington, Feb. 11—Price fixing by the government, except in emergencies, is inadvisable, Victor Murdock, a member of the federal trade commission, declared yesterday at a hearing before the house agriculture committee. A bill by Representative Sinclair, Republican, of North Dakota, to provide for annual fixing by a commission of government officials of minimum prices for certain farm products is before the committee.

"No one can occupy the place I have with the federal trade commission without looking with suspicion on governmental price fixing," asserted Mr. Murdock, adding that such a policy might be the only means of affording relief temporarily in emergencies. He emphasized the danger of embarking on a comprehensive policy of government price fixing as permanent legislation.

REV. H. H. UMSTEAD IS GROWING BETTER

CAN NOW EAT AND READ THE PAPERS.

HAS THREE BROKEN RIBS

Also Got Severe Blow on Head and a Sprained Ankle—Expected to Return Soon.

The Rev. Henry H. Umstead, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Quitman, who became violently ill Monday from a return of shell shock and who was taken Wednesday to the Woodson Sanitarium at St. Joseph, is getting along nicely, according to information received last night by the Rev. and Mrs. MacDougall at Quitman. Mr. MacDougall is a brother of Mrs. Umstead.

Mr. MacDougall said this morning that he was in communication last night with the sanitarium at St. Joseph and that he was told that Mr. Umstead was resting well and that he was now able to eat and read the papers a little.

Mr. MacDougall said that Mr. Umstead had received in the accident with the motor car a severe blow on the back of his head and that three of his ribs were broken. His ankle was also sprained.

It is Mr. MacDougall's opinion that the motor car in which Mr. Umstead was riding was being driven rapidly and that when it struck the bank Mr. Umstead was thrown to the other side of the machine from the steering wheel and it was in this way that the injuries were received. He attributes the accident to the fact that Mr. Umstead was somewhat excited because he had just had one accident with a motor car and that he lost control of the second one. He said too, that Mr. Umstead had been somewhat excited during the past two weeks about the work that was being carried on in the church at Quitman and that it was probable that this had had a tendency to unnerve him.

Mr. MacDougall says that it is his opinion that Mr. Umstead will fully recover from the accident and that he will soon be with the people of Quitman in his pastorial capacity.

The farm bureau, which now occupies a part of the space to be used by the health department, will move its headquarters into the west room on the second floor of the building.

TO ASK BAIL MONDAY FOR MRS. BESSIE WOODARD

Cook & Cummins Will Take Matter Before Judge Dawson of the Circuit Court.

It was said at the office of Cook & Cummins, attorneys for Mrs. Bessie Maud Woodard, this afternoon that the matter of a bail for her would be taken up Monday morning before Judge John M. Dawson of the circuit court. In the meantime Mrs. Woodard remains in the county jail, charged with first degree murder.

Charles F. McCaffrey, prosecuting attorney, said this morning that it was his opinion that Mrs. Woodard could not be bailed out with the charge that there is against her, but that it was up to Judge Dawson to decide the matter.

The funeral of Shubael Woodard, the murdered man, was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church and Dr. O. L. Curl preached the funeral. A large crowd attended.

WHERE WAS COMMUNITY MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT?

Professor Stanfield and Miss Shepherd At Loss To Know Where They Were to Speak

Professor W. W. Stanfield and Miss Grace Shepherd of the State Teachers College were wondering yesterday where they were scheduled to have been on Thursday evening. Some community in the county was to have a community meeting at the school house. Mr. Stanfield understood that it was the Blackburn Schoolhouse. The understanding was that Mr. Stanfield and Miss Shepherd were to make talks at the meeting. According, Mr. Stanfield, Mrs. Stanfield and Miss Shepherd drove to the Blackburn school in Mr. Stanfield's motor car. When they got there the building was dark and lonely. They had gone to the wrong place. There had been a misunderstanding as to the place at which the meeting was to be held. The party returned to town feeling a little foolish, Mr. Stanfield said.

The arrangement had been made by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, and Mr. Somerville was in Columbia attending the superintendent's meeting, so there was no way to check up on the affair.

MARYVILLE WON IN 2 OUT OF 3 GAMES

H. S. WON AND LOST AND S. T. C. GIRLS WON.

TROUNCING FOR TRENTON

Maryville Boys Thrashed Old Enemy to Tune of 24 to 13—Much Interest in Game.

Maryville High School and College basketball teams were engaged last night in three basketball games and were successful in two of them. The victory by the widest margain was the one that the College girls won at the high school gymnasium from the team of the Palmer College at Albany. The score was 33 to 7. The other victory and one that gives a great deal of satisfaction to the local high school and to the town in general was the one that the boys of the high school won at Trenton from the team of the Trenton High School. This score was 24 to 13. The third game was lost. It was played between the girls of the high school and the girls of the Hopkins High School at Hopkins. The score in this game was 24 to 21 in favor of the Hopkins girls.

Big Victory For Boys

In a 24 to 13 victory the Maryville High School basketeers supped deeply at Trenton of the cup of revenge for the football defeat administered by Trenton last fall. Team work, accurate passing and good playing marked the game, which was a walk-away for Maryville from the start. There were no individual stars. The team played as a machine and as a machine they worked the ball the length of the floor time and again for a tally. Against a team well versed in the five man defense and on a small court, the local quintet fully demonstrated that it is a basketball team to be proud of.

From the start of the game the victory was certain. The Maryville aggregation amassed a lead of fifteen points before a Trenton player managed to drop the ball through the meshes. The guarding of Masters and O'Banion was in the main responsible for the score. To use the words of Coach Harry O. Ezell, "Bun played his usual whale of a game and Masters was fast on both offense and defense."

The first half ended with the score 18 to 3 in favor of Maryville.

In the second period Trenton came back strong. Its defense was almost unpenetratable and the offense was much better than in the first of the game. It seemed to be a different team and played some good basketball. In this period Trenton made ten points to six for Maryville.

Trenton plays two games here Feb. 23 and 24. These games promise to be better than the game last night as Trenton is on an up-hill climb. Their team is going through the same reformation that was seen in Maryville not long since. Coach Ezell predicts that these games will be good and that the Trenton team will be much improved when it comes here.

Last night Captain Bill Fannon played one of his best games. His passing was unusually accurate and he was a valuable cog in the machine.

Ellis was also fast. His floor work was good and he had his eye on the basket.

Although "Chuggy" Smith did not shine as a shooter, his floor work compared with the best of them. The diminutive forward was fighting all of the time an dplayed a mighty sweet game.

Keef, who went in for Ellis toward the last of the game, played well.

DEBATERS AT COLLEGE GETTING READY FOR CLASH

Think It's Safer to Debate Closed Shop Question Here Than At Pittsburg, Kan.

The Excelsior Literary Society of the College has chosen Fred Kurtz, W. H. LeMaster, John Allen DeMott and Alfred Watson as the members of its two teams for the inter society debates that are to take place in April. The Excelsiors won last year in the intersociety debates that are to take place in April. The Excelsiors won last year in the intersociety debates and the society is expecting to win again this year.

At 8 o'clock Monday morning there will be a debate at the college to begin eliminations to determine who will represent the College in the debate that is to take place with the state school at Pittsburg, Kan., in March. The debate will be between John Querry and Fred Kurtz on the negative and Charles Elmore and Virgil Adkins for the affirmative. The question is "Resolved That the Principal of the Closed Shop is Justifiable."

The debate between Maryville and Pittsburg will be held here, somewhat to the satisfaction of the debaters, since some of them have remarked that they would hardly consider it safe to go to Pittsburg and argue the closed shop, even though it was just in fun.

PRESIDENT SUBMITS TREATY TO SENATE

HARDING PRESENTS PACTS FROM ARMS CONFERENCE.

NO ENTANGLING FEATURE

Says New Agreements Will Put End to Contradictions and Establish Clear Understanding.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The treaties negotiated during the Washington conference were laid before the senate by President Harding yesterday with a request that they be ratified as guarantees of peace.

Appearing in person before the senate, the President declared that the new agreements would "serve to put an end to contradictions, to remove ambiguities and establish clear understanding."

Seven treaties were submitted by the President. The first was the five-power naval armament treaty, the second the submarine and poison gas treaty, the third, the four-power Pacific treaty, the fourth and fifth were supplemental treaties to the four-power pact, and the others related respectively to the general Far Eastern situation and to the Chinese tariff.

These engagements, the president said, were interwoven in a general scheme of peace, and contained nothing which "commits the United States, or any other power, to any kind of an alliance, entanglement, or involvement."

Referring to the unratified treaty of Versailles, Mr. Harding said it was drawn in response "to a manifest world hunger," for better relationships, and that the treaties submitted were drawn in response to the same desire but without any provision except to "promote peace."

No War Commitments.

"The four-power treaty contains no war commitments," said the President.

"There is no commitment to armed force, alliance, no written or moral obligation to join in defense, no expressed or implied commitment to arrive at any agreement except in accordance with our constitutional methods."

Reviewing briefly the situation in the Far East, the president declared the conference by its Far Eastern agreement had "dissipated" all apprehension of territorial greed in that quarter and that senate ratification of the Far Eastern treaties "will stabilize a peace for the breaking of which there is not a shadow of reason or real excuse."

Relief From Naval Burdens.

The five-power naval treaty, he continued was in accordance with the expressed wish of congress, contained in recent legislation, and would afford "the first actual relief from naval burdens which peoples have been able to acclaim since steam and steel combined to add to naval strength in warfare."

"Either these treaties must have your cordial sanction," he said, "or every proclaimed desire to promote peace and prevent war becomes a hollow mockery."

Alluding to the senate's traditional aversion against entangling foreign commitments, Mr. Harding declared he had that in mind when he arranged that both Democrats and Republicans should be members of the American delegation.

"The senate's concern for freedom from entanglements," he continued, "for preserved traditions, for maintained independence was never once forgotten by the American delegates.

"If I did not believe these treaties brought us not only new guarantees but greater assurances of freedom from conflict, I would not submit them to your consideration.

Futile to Try Again.

"Much depends upon your decision," he continued. "We have joined in giving to the world the spectacle of nations gathered about the conference table, amid the convictions of peace, free from all passion, to face each other in the contracts of reason to solve menacing problems, and end disputes and clear up misunderstandings.

"If to these understandings for peace, if to these advanced expressions of the conscience of leading powers, if to these concords to guard against conflict and lift burden of armament, if to all these the senate will not advise and consent, then it will be futile to try again."

"I alluded a moment ago to my knowledge of the viewpoint of the senate from personal experience," he declared. "Since that experience I have come to know the viewpoint and inescapable responsibility of the executive.

"To the executive comes the closer

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

SOUL AND BODY

Thousands of years ago we were admonished to "know thyself." This admonition was given us to learn all about ourselves that we might know our strength and our weakness, and shape our lives according to the material with which we have to build, that we might achieve the greatest results in our mission on earth.

"Thyself" is your soul and body—the one material and the other ethereal, and on earth the one is dependent upon the other for existence and usefulness.

There is a broad distinction between your soul and your body, and one is easily distinguishable from the other. Your body is the flesh, bone and blood of you. These three things constitute all there is of your body. Alone, without your soul, it would be an inanimate thing. It could neither move, feel nor think. It would be as something dead, for it could not function. It is merely the house which your soul occupies. For illustration: There stands a disconnected electric fan. It represents the body. It is motionless; it has no power to disturb the air. It is useless. But wait, we will put life into it; we switch on the electricity, which represents the soul, and it functions.

What is the soul? It is all there is of you except your body. It is all your senses, all your passions and all your faculties combined. It is the all of you which sees, feels, hears and thinks. It is the messenger the Creator sent to earth for a purpose.

PAYING YOUR INCOME TAX

In most forms of taxation, the public authorities take up the case of each taxpayer, and decide how much he ought to pay. The value of real estate and personal and business property can be determined by boards of assessors. If the public have the judgment to put competent and honest business men into these positions, they will get fairly levied tax.

The income tax law, however, looks to the individual citizen to report his own income. It was predicted when this law was first passed, that the result would be to encourage people to conceal their property, and that an enormous amount of lying would be done. But it has not worked that way. The penalties imposed for falsification are severe. And the majority of successful people know well enough that honesty is the best policy, and that it is a mean and low trick to cheat the government.

People who are disposed to growl about their income tax, or who are tempted to underestimate the amounts due from them, should reflect on the wonderful advantages they get from their American citizenship.

At a time when the world has been almost convulsed by war, and by the wicked ambitions of designing men, the United States has escaped with much less disturbance. Our burden of debt is much lighter. Our political system provides free education and wide opportunities for ambitious people. More of the comforts of life are available here than in any other land.

The American people should not expect to have all these blessings without paying for them. In many ways they cost money. Those who have had an exceptional share of these blessings without paying for them. In many ways they cost money. Those who have had an exceptional share of these benefits, and who are now asked to report and pay their income assessment, should do so with the utmost honesty and cheerfulness, remembering the gifts that their country has brought to them.

The following clipping was taken from the Graham Tribune of this week and is signed by the former owner of the paper:

He has been connected with the newspaper business for over 15 years—the last few months working on the "Herald," Maitland, Mo., under the management of Mr. Hambaugh, where he practically had charge of the job work department and composition of the paper. Yes, he intends to continue the Tribune at Graham—where we are sure a newspaper and job office are greatly needed.

"We wish to thank all subscribers and patrons of the Tribune for their past support and earnestly urge all to stand back of the home paper in every possible way in the days to come.

"Wishing all health, wealth and gold in store, I humbly bow myself off the stage of action as editor of the Tribune.

Your friend,

Arkansas Senator Charges Politics In Examinations for Jobs

Washington, Feb. 11—Members of the civil service commission were attacked in the senate yesterday by Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, who charged that they were "prostituting their offices for partisan purposes."

"The commission is lending itself to the most outrageous abuses," said Senator Caraway, citing Arkansas cases, in which, he declared, the commission had raised examination grades of politicians, who were seeking civil service jobs.

The Arkansas senator asserted the commission had refused to permit anyone to examine the papers in these cases and added:

"They are lending themselves to positive fraud. Their conduct is shocking."

Senator Caraway's objections succeeded in holding up temporarily a proposition in an appropriation bill to increase the salaries of commissioners from $5,000 to $6,000.

S. T. C. Girls vs. Palmer.

The girls of the State Teachers College snatched the lead at the beginning from the girls of Palmer College and in a short time had built up a large score. The lead continued to grow larger and larger. Palmer grew a little fussy but it did not keep the local girls from going on piling up the big score. Palmer also called time out to hold pow wows among the players, but could not seem to devise any scheme by which to hold its own with the Maryville girls. At the end of the first half the score was 22 to 3.

Hopkins Girls Against M. H. S.

The handicap of a small gymnasium lost a game for the Maryville High School girls at Hopkins last night. The score was 24 to 21. The game was all one-sided in the first half. The Hopkins girls, at home on their small court seemed to be "right" and the forwards hit the meshes from all angles.

The Maryville girls, used to playing on a regulation court, seemed to be crowded in the Hopkins gymnasium and all of the free easy playing that has characterized the team this season seemed to be gone. Time after time shots went wild or bounced off of the ceiling.

The high school girls have been coached by H. O. Ezell to arch their shots and almost every time the ball was arched at all it bounced on the ceiling. The half ended 18 to 8.

In the second half the locals came back strong. They seemed to be acclimated to the little court and the passing and shooting was decidedly better. Evelyn Raines was clearly the star. The Maryville forward had the range and was "dropping 'em in" at will. She made nine points in the period. The Hopkins girls were held to two field goals in the second half.

With the half nearly over and Maryville rapidly cutting down the Hopkins lead the interest grew and the little gymnasium was filled with cheers.

For Hopkins Miss Dragoo was the individual star. She made twenty of her teams points. She was fast and shot well.

The game was refereed by Jack Bland of the State Teachers College.

500 MONKEYS USED IN BATTLE AGAINST "FLU"

New York Feb. 11—Five hundred monkeys, imported as needed from South America and Africa, were used during the last three years in experiments in which the new vaccine against pneumonia was developed, according to Dr. Willian H. Park, of the Health Department. The monkeys were used as part of a nation-wide campaign of research work on the subject of influenza and pneumonia.

Among other things the experiments showed that the invisible, unidentified organism which causes "flu" can pass through a stone wall.

The experiments were conducted principally by the Public Health Service in Washington and by the local Health Department.

SPPED UP RUSSIAN MAILS.

Letters From Other Countries Now Almost Certain of Delivery.

The mail service of Russia is improving and now letters and money orders sent to points within Russia are reasonably certain of delivery. Also letters from abroad are delivered.

Letters sent from the United States reach the person to whom they are addressed after a month or six weeks. The delay is due to the censorship. There's nothing secret about the work of the censors. It is perfectly apparent that they have opened letters because they wish to know the contents. The letters are steamed, and during the process the United States stamp and the mucilage of the flap come off.

After the censor has examined the contents and made any notes or copies of the contents, the letter goes out for delivery. The delivery service is so good that a letter will follow the addressee about for weeks, from address to address, until he is found.

PRESIDENT SUBMITS TREATY TO SENATE

view of the world relationship and more impressive realization of the menaces, the anxieties, and the apprehensions to be met."

Testimonials to Open Diplomacy.

Along with the treaties, the president submitted to the senate the complete minutes of plenary sessions and committee meetings of the conference, together with a copy of the officials report made to him by the American delegation.

These documents the president said were "fitting testimonials to that open and simpler diplomacy for which the world has asked."

In that sense he added, the whole conference was "quite out of the ordinary."

"Indeed," said Mr. Harding, "it was a conference of friends, proceeding in deliberation, and sympathy, appraising their friendly and peaceful relations and resolved to maintain them and to give the world new assurances of peace and actual relief from the burdens of excessive and competitive armaments."

Not a "Spite" Conference.

"It is not necessary to remind you that the conference work was not directed against any power or group of powers. There were no punishments to inflict, no rewards to bestow. The offerings are free will; conscience is that of world opinion; the observance is a matter of national honor."

Asserting that no provision in any of the treaties required the United States to surrender a "single worth while tradition," the president declared it did not follow that the commitments entered into were meaningless or valueless. The actuating desire, he said, had been to establish among nations an agreement of "orderly neighborliness."

"The world has been hungering for a better relationship for centuries since it has attained its larger consciousness," said Mr. Harding. "The conception of the league of nations was a reponse to a manifest world hunger. Whatever its fate, whether it achieves the great thing hoped for, or comes to supersedure or failure, American unwillingness to be a part of it has been expressed. That unwillingness has been kept in mind, and the treaties submitted today have no semblance or relationship save as the wish to promote peace has been the common inspiration."

The president concluded his address at 4:06 o'clock and treaties which he presented were on motion of Senator Lodge, Republican leader, referred to the foreign relations committee and ordered printed.

Mrs. Harding a Spectator.

There was no formal announcement of the president's plans to address the senate except a motion of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader, to appoint a committee to escort the executive to the chamber.

On motion of Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip, the senate, to receive the president, proceeded to consider "executive business in open session."

Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Hughes were among the many women spectators. They had seats in the front row of the gallery.

The first applause given to the president's remarks was when he expressed hope that conference work would be appraised by the senate as he appraised it.

There was considerable applause when the president expressed belief that the conference had made the world "a safer and better and more happy place to live in."

THE ORDER DEMOLAY WILL ATTEND CHURCH IN A BODY SUNDAY MORNING. MEET AT LODGE ROOMS AT 10:30.

STRIKE DIDN'T HALT EDITORS

Americans and British in Paris Put Out Editions Without Compositors

Paris, Feb. 11—The editorial staff of the Paris edition of the New York Herald and the London Daily Mail gave a lesson in journalism initiative and enterprise to their French contemporaries yesterday.

When their compositors walked out last night, after rejection of their ultimatum for a 50 per cent increase in wages, the staffs of the two newspapers got together. They brought out a joint edition today, printed from photo-engraved plates of typewritten copy, the method being similar to that adopted by American magazines recently in a similar emergency.

HARD TIMES HIT THE STAGE.

It Is Estimated 7,500 Performers are Out of Work.

New York, Feb. 11.—There are today more unemployed actors and other stage performers walking along Broadway and a hundred main streets looking for jobs than ever before.

Several well known managers estimated that half of the fifteen thousand actors in the United States, exclusive of the vaudeville performers, were out of work. The Actors' Equity Association had a smaller estimate.

SEES PERIL IN PRICE FIXING

Victor Murdock Says It Will Do Only in Emergencies

Washington, Feb. 11—Price fixing by the government, except in emergencies, is inadvisable, Victor Murdock, a member of the federal trade commission, declared yesterday at a hearing before the house agriculture committee. A bill by Representative Sinclair, Republican, of North Dakota, to provide for annual fixing by a commission of government officials of minimum prices for certain farm products is before the committee.

"No one can occupy the place I have with the federal trade commission without looking with suspicion on governmental price fixing," asserted Mr. Murdock, adding that such a policy might be the only means of affording relief temporarily in emergencies. He emphasized the danger of embarking on a comprehensive policy of government price fixing as permanent legislation.
